

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protection. Before implementation of this law, we would receive 6 to 8 calls daily from solicitors. Since Indiana's implementation, solicitation calls have been completely eliminated. We would be very upset if the FCC were to weaken our current protection which would result in a resumption of unwanted calls.